

FREE LITERATURE

Wall Chart

A new wall chart, "Evaluation of Platelet Function," is now available from Helena Laboratories (Beaumont, TX). This colorful graphic contains comprehensive, up-to-date information on platelet function and testing. Topics detailed in the wall chart include: storage, circulation, and anatomy of a platelet, dynamics of hemostasis, and defects of platelet function.

Write in 750 on Reader Service Card

Environmental

A new environmental catalogue is available from Hewlett-Packard (Palo Alto, CA). This 80-page catalogue describes more than 40 U.S. Environmental Protection Agency and other internationally recognized standard environmental analysis methods. Each is presented in a comprehensive, easy-to-read format.

Write in 757 on Reader Service Card

Alchemy

Fisher Scientific (Pittsburg, PA) has published its 1993 "gadget" catalogue, Alchemy III, which includes innovative developments in timers, stopwatches, calculators, computerized notebooks, controllers, and thermometers, among other items.

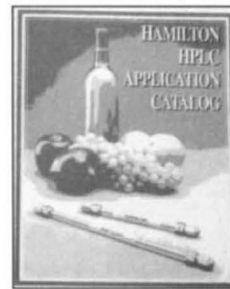

Write in 753 on Reader Service Card

HPLC Application

Hamilton Company (Reno, NV) introduces a newly revised HPLC Application Catalogue for locating application chromatograms and literature references quickly and easily for polymeric reversed phase, ion chromatography, anion exchange, cation exchange, ion exclusion, and carbohydrate columns.

Write in 755 on Reader Service Card

Hardware Poster

A color chart from Fisher Scientific (Pittsburg, PA) illustrates the wide world of "hardware"—clamps, extension clamps, pinchcocks, hosecocks, ring and plate supports, holders, connectors, and lattice rods—used in experimental and test setups in industrial, clinical, and medical research, as well as in governmental and educational laboratories.

Write in 751 on Reader Service Card

IEF

A new brochure on isoelectric focusing (IEF) is now available from Isolab (Akron, OH). This process separates proteins and enzymes on the basis of their isoelectric points, and has been successfully used in the clinic and in research to distinguish differences in complex biological fluids.

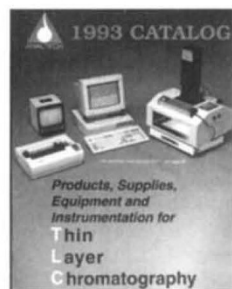

Write in 754 on Reader Service Card

TLC Catalogue

Analtech (Newark, DE) offers its new Thin Layer Chromatography Catalogue, which features a complete line of TLC plates and instrumentation. The catalogue also features the Uniscan Video Densitometer and a full line of TLC accessories that includes sample application devices, transilluminators, viewing cabinets, and photodocumentation systems.

Write in 752 on Reader Service Card

Parenteral Selection

Ben Venue Laboratories (Bedford, OH) introduces two new booklets aimed at helping drug companies make strategic decisions concerning contract manufacturing of parenteral products. They address questions a drug maker should ask itself to determine if using the services of a contract manufacturer is appropriate.

Write in 756 on Reader Service Card

