

 IN MEMORIAMStuart Handwerger

It is with great sadness that the Nature Reviews Endocrinology team learnt that Stuart Handwerger, a founding member of our Advisory Board, passed away in late November. Stuart Handwerger's research focused on fetal and perinatal endocrinology, with a particular interest in human trophoblast differentiation. Stuart Handwerger will be remembered for his many contributions to this field, and he will be greatly missed by the community.