Cover illustration. EGF receptors are overexpressed in some epithelial tumours compared with normal adjacent epithelia (see article by Veale et al., this issue, p. 513). The domains shown (1) are altered by ligand binding (2). The whole receptor-ligand complex is internalised. Therapy aimed at the external domain may produce selective toxicity in over-expressing EGFr tumours.

Whilst every effort is made by the publishers and editorial board to see that no inaccurate or misleading data, opinion or statement appears in this Journal, they wish to make it clear that the data and opinions appearing in the articles and advertisements herein are the responsibility of the contributor or advertiser concerned. Accordingly, the publishers and the editorial committee and their respective employees, officers and agents accept no liability whatsoever for the consequences of any such inaccurate or misleading data, opinion or statement. Whilst every effort is made to ensure that drug doses and other quantities are presented accurately, readers are advised that new methods and techniques involving drug usage, and described within this Journal, should only be followed in conjunction with the drug manufacturer's own published literature.
Notice to Contributors

Manuscripts should be sent in triplicate (original plus two copies) to the Editor, Dr Michael Moore. The criteria for acceptance of manuscripts to be published in the British Journal of Cancer are originality and high scientific quality. Manuscripts are accepted on the understanding that they report unpublished work that is not under consideration for publication elsewhere, that all named authors have agreed to its submission and that if accepted it will not be published in the same form, in any language, without the consent of the Publishers. Papers should be in English. Authors whose mother-tongue is not English are urgently requested to have their manuscripts checked for linguistic correctness before submission.

Manuscripts should be typewritten, double-spaced with a wide margin and on one side of the paper only. They should be accompanied by a title page numbered 1, bearing title, authors full names, affiliation and complete addresses, including postal (zip) codes; and a summary of not more than 200 words. The author and address to whom correspondence, proofs and reprint requests are to be sent should be clearly indicated.

Papers disregarding the welfare of experimental animals will be rejected.

Full papers should be divided into sections:
1. Introduction
2. Materials and methods
3. Results
4. Discussion
5. Acknowledgements and References.

Short Communications (~1500 words) should not have the above section headings nor a summary.

The Editor reserves the right to make literary corrections.

Titles These are most important; authors should compose them with great care. They should combine brevity with clarity; the shorter the better, not exceeding 100 letters. Authors should submit their own running title, which must not exceed 50 letters.

References Only papers closely related to the author’s work should be quoted, and these should be to original papers only. Exhaustive lists should be avoided. Citation of Conference Proceeding or Meetings Abstracts should also be avoided unless there is no other reference. References in the text should be made by giving the author’s surname, with the year of publication in brackets. When the reference is to a specific part of a book, the page number should also be cited. When reference is made to a work by 3 or more authors, the first name followed by et al. should be used on all occasions. If several papers by the same first author and from the same year are cited, a, b, c, etc. should be added after the year of publication. It is the author’s responsibility to check the accuracy of all references before submitting a manuscript. References should be brought together at the end of the paper in alphabetical order, where titles of papers and all authors’ names should be given in full (except if there are more than 6 authors, when the first 3 names should be followed by ‘and x others’, x being the actual number).

Names of journals should be abbreviated as in the Index Medicus, but with full stops after abbreviations (and after authors’ initials), followed by the volume number and the page number, e.g.:

References to books and monographs should appear as in the following examples:

Abbreviations and units should follow the standards laid down in Units Symbols and Abbreviations published by the Royal Society of Medicine (third edition, 1977).

Figures In the text Arabic numbers should be used and all illustrations should be specifically referred to in the text, e.g. (Figure 2). All illustrations should be submitted at about 1½ times the intended final size and should be numbered as figures whether they are photographs, representational drawings or line diagrams and graphs.

Photographs and photomicrographs should be unmounted glossy prints, should not be retouched, and should be chosen to exclude technical artefacts. Magnification should be indicated by a line representing a defined length included within the photograph. Areas of key interest and/or critical reproduction should be indicated on a flimsy overlay attached to the photograph or on a photocopy. All annotation and lettering should be indicated in the same way, and preferably not included on the original print. Clearly contrasted and focussed prints are essential for adequate reproduction.

Line diagrams and graphs should be on separate sheets; they must be drawn with black Indian ink on white paper, of such originals. Lettering on figures should be minimal and must not duplicate the legend. The use of symbols should be consistent within papers, and explanation of symbols should be included in the caption, not on the figure.

A photocopy of all illustrations should be submitted.

Tables These should be as few as possible and should present only essential data. They should be typewritten on separate sheets, have a title or caption, and given Roman numbers.

Proofs Two marked copies of the proofs will be sent to the principal authors which should be read carefully for errors. One corrected copy must be returned to the Editor within 3 days. Major alterations to the text cannot be accepted.

Copyright Assignment The principal author must complete and return to the Publisher the Copyright Assignment Form enclosed with the proofs.

Offprints Twenty-five offprints will be supplied free of charge to the principal author. Additional offprints may be ordered on the form accompanying proofs. The charges are necessarily higher if orders are received after the issue has gone to press.

Editorial correspondence should be addressed to the Editor, Dr Michael Moore, Paterson Institute for Cancer Research, Christie Hospital and Holt Radium Institute, Manchester M20 9BX, UK.
