Organization of the Scientific Civil Service

It has been brought to the Editor's notice that the fourth paragraph of the review of the Report of the Tennant Committee, published on p. 113 of the December 18, 1965, issue of Nature, is open to misinterpretation. The figures given in the first sentence of the paragraph relate to the unestablished staff referred to in the preceding paragraph. Thus, in the scientific and experimental officer classes taken together, 80 per cent of the officers serving in a temporary or unestablished capacity have been employed in the Civil Service for 5 years or less, and in the scientific officer class 60 per cent and in the experimental officer class 50 per cent of the unestablished staff have been employed for 2.5 years or less.
