Peter Clarke was born in Dudley in 1960, his parents were both local general medical practitioners. He was educated at King Edward School, Stourbridge and attended Birmingham Dental School. He was an enthusiastic student winning the Cale - Matthews prize in Children's Dentistry and Orthodontics, the Frank Stammers Prize in Periodontology and the Dental Students Society Prize for Elective Studies. He graduated in December 1983.

He started as a vocational dental practitioner under Roger Jones in the Wyre Forest town of Bewdley and was soon impressing us all with his organisational skills. He joined the Hereford and Worcester section and came up with the brilliant idea of getting sponsorship for meetings. He tirelessly chased up sponsors and boosted the section's finances. He joined the local dental committee and made a positive contribution to its work.

The Bewdley dental practice grew rapidly but with Peter remaining firmly committed to providing National Health Service care for his patients.

At this time his family was growing rapidly with Alex soon followed by the twins Edward and Joseph, and finally young Charles. They all enjoyed yachting down in Salcombe and skiing in the Alps together.
