

PRACTICE MANAGEMENT

Remind your patients with DentalText

DentalText is a web-based tool designed exclusively for the UK dental industry. It is designed to remind patients of impending appointments and thereby reduce costly missed appointments for your practice. By signing up to DentalText, dental professionals will be able to send their patients reminders and improve patient communications simply and effectively, by using text messages.

DentalText is easy to sign up to. Just visit www.dentaltext.org.uk, create your account and log in to type your SMS text message. Click send and the message is delivered – it's as simple as that. Messages are charged at 10p per text, paid for in advance, and discounts are available for high volumes of messages. For more information or a free demonstration, please call 0870 116 2333 or email sales@dentaltext.org.uk.

Ease of integration

Sirona's C+ range of treatment centres is designed to maximise flexibility, integration and technology within the dental practice, creating a seamless workflow that optimises productivity. With an unrivalled design and a multitude of options, configuring the treatment centre for your specific needs has never been easier.

Integration into the surrounding dental environment is simple and sophisticated. By networking your entire practice through the treatment centre's integrated patient communication system, it becomes the hub for patient education, displaying digital radiography, scheduling and even entertaining.

Superior engineering and craftsmanship allow the C+ delivery unit to integrate all the key dental instruments into an ideal practice solution. Control of a three-way syringe, air or electric handpieces, intraoral camera, prophylaxis, ultrasonic scaler and LED curing light is accomplished through a single footswitch.
