

TAHO's state-of-the-art patch & film delivery platform: A new opportunity for your molecules

TAHO is a specialty pharma company focused on identifying and developing new products that offer better therapeutic options to underserved patient populations. By utilizing the company's technology platform, it offers niche drug delivery services.

TAHO's transdermal delivery platform facilitates the absorption of active ingredients into the skin and through the bloodstream. The platform transforms patient care by providing:

- Continuous safe, reliable delivery and pain-free application
- Improved convenience, tolerability, and dosing
- Flexible drug administration

TAHO's transmucosa delivery system delivers the drug as a thin film, offering an evolution from traditional tablets or capsules. This delivery system offers the patient the following advantages compared with current approaches:

- Convenient dosing, no water required
- No risk of choking
- Taste masking

Make TAHO your partner for innovative drug delivery solutions and diversify your product pipeline.
