POSITION AVAILABLE

Assistant Molecular Geneticists, Laboratory of Molecular Medicine, Harvard-Partners Center for Genetics and Genomics: The Harvard-Partners Center for Genetics and Genomics (HPCGG) invites applications for Assistant Molecular Geneticist positions in the recently created Laboratory of Molecular Medicine (LMM). Partners is an integrated health care system founded by Brigham and Women's Hospital and Massachusetts General Hospital, and the HPCGG is a newly organized Center under the scientific directorship of Raju S. Kucherlapati. The LMM will be a CLIA-approved facility that will conduct diagnostic testing using state-of-the-art molecular methods. The Laboratory will embrace the rapid translation of research discoveries into clinical tests, and will aggressively employ high-throughput technologies in diagnostic testing. The successful applicant will enjoy a newly constructed laboratory, interaction with a large and diverse academic faculty, and the opportunity to develop a premier laboratory to implement the bridge to genomic medicine. Academic appointment will be at the Instructor level at Harvard Medical School. ABMG certification (or Active Candidate status) in Clinical Molecular Genetics or ABPath certification in Molecular Genetic Pathology is highly desirable. Outstanding candidates should submit curriculum vitae, statement of research/clinical experience, and the names of three individuals who could provide letters of reference to Dr. Cynthia C. Morton, HPCGG, Thorn 917, 20 Shattuck Street, Boston, MA 02115.

Women and minority candidates are encouraged to apply. Harvard Medical School and Partners HealthCare System are Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employers.
