AGRI-BIOTECHNOLOGY EXECUTIVE SEARCH

KINCANNON & REED provides executive search consulting to agri-biotechnology management. We represent biotechnology organizations in successfully identifying, evaluating, and attracting the superior research and commercial talent necessary to achieve their objectives.

Because our emphasis is in agribusiness, we are better able to counsel our clients on their key management needs. With our well developed sources in agribusiness and the agri-scientific community, we provide a comprehensive overview of the executive market.

Working efficiently, we bring to every search an expertise sharpened by daily practice. Our perspective, diligence and objectivity, as well as close communication with clients, are key to successful searches.

If your organization has or anticipates key management needs, please write or call.
