

FREE LITERATURE

Homogenizer. A six-page, full-color brochure from VirTis (Gardiner, NY) describes the new VirTishear mechanical homogenizer. Design and assembly specifications are described, as are associated accessories and glassware.

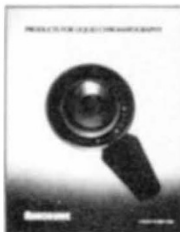

Write in 701 on Reader Service Card

Microfiber filters. Whatman's (Kent, U.K.) new technical leaflet describes the applications and measurements of glass microfiber filters in water pollution monitoring.

The filters combine high efficiency filtration with high loading capacity.

Write in 702 on Reader Service Card

LC injectors, valves, and fittings. Rheodyne's (Cotati, CA) 1986/87 LC catalog covers a comprehensive line of sample injection valves, high-pressure switching valves, low-pressure Teflon valves, and other HPLC accessories.

Write in 703 on Reader Service Card

Labware. Nalge Product News from Nalge (Rochester, NY) introduces alternatives to breakable labware: window-clear square polycarbonate bottles, impact-resistant 4-ml sample bottles, narrow-mouth red nylon wash bottles, polyalomer dilution bottles, and a transparent, shatterproof polycarbonate filling bell.

Write in 704 on Reader Service Card

Clinical chemistry assessment. A new brochure from Wellcome Diagnostics (Dartford, U.K.) describes the company's newly updated clinical chemistry quality assessment program.

Write in 715 on Reader Service Card

Bioreactor. New Brunswick Scientific's (Edison, NJ) BioFlo II is the subject of a new, four-page, four-color brochure. This compact bioreactor achieves a high oxygen transfer rate of 350 mM O₂/liter/hour.

Write in 705 on Reader Service Card

Glycohemoglobin information. More Glycohemoglobin

Confusion from Isolab (Akron, OH) is a four-page brochure describing glycosylated serum protein assays and updating the terminology, methodology, and diagnostic usefulness of the many glycosylated hemoglobin (Ghb), Hb A₁, and Hb A_{1c} assays.

Write in 706 on Reader Service Card

Phycobiliproteins.

Biomedica News from Biomedica Corp. (Foster City, CA) describes the use of phycobiliproteins as fluorescent tracers. It is organized as an introduction for those interested in immunofluorescence, placing special emphasis on the field of microscopy.

Write in 710 on Reader Service Card

Cell culture. General Procedures for the Cell Culture Laboratory from Corning Science Products (Corning, NY) uses text and diagrams to cover such topics as glass-washing, sterilization, water quality, record-keeping, and chemical and biological storage.

Write in 712 on Reader Service Card

Chemical/freeze quench apparatus.

Update Instrument's (Madison, WI) System 1000 product sheet describes a rapid flow/rapid reaction instrument featuring a programmable syringe ram.

Write in 714 on Reader Service Card

Monoclonal antibodies. Chemicon International (El Segundo, CA) has introduced a revised, 39-page catalog. New listings include monoclonal antibodies to IgG and the four IgG subclasses, subcellular particles, keratins and human granulocytes, ¹²⁵I-labeled rat hormones, and rat monoclonal antibodies to murine antigens.

Write in 707 on Reader Service Card

Bactericidal cream. Information sheet M65 and a 15 ml sample pot of Sentinel bactericidal hand cream are available from Hughes & Hughes (Essex, U.K.). The cream protects against a variety of pathogens.

Write in 708 on Reader Service Card

LC electrophoresis. A new 80-page catalog describes Isco's (Lincoln, NE) complete line of classical instrumentation, including variable and multi-wavelength detectors, fraction collectors, pumps, density gradient fractionators, a gel scanner, and electrophoresis power supplies.

Write in 711 on Reader Service Card

Balances. Mettler Instruments Corp.'s (Hightstown, NJ) new 17-page laboratory products brochure takes the reader through the firm's full line of analytical and precision balances, microbalances, density meters, application pacs, and customer-support services.

Write in 713 on Reader Service Card