

BE LESS WASTEFUL WITH YOUR CLINICAL WASTE

Initial Medical is proud to announce the launch of their new eco-friendly solution – Sustainable Clinical Waste Bags.

They've introduced 30% recycled plastic into their Clinical Waste Bag range, helping them to eliminate 80 tonnes of virgin polythene material from production per year – a weight equivalent to approximately ten African elephants or 33 Initial Medical service vehicles! This way, by switching to these solutions dental professionals can rest assured that they are reducing their impact on the planet while still ensuring that any clinical waste generated in practice is properly segregated and contained.

Manufactured in the UK, these solutions are also sustainably produced and transported. Conscious effort has been made to reduce any environmental impact by reusing freshwater responsibly and harnessing renewable energy throughout production and ensuring CO2 emissions are minimised during transport.

WHERE PREVENTION STARTS

Patients love the feel of a beautifully clean mouth. Oral health begins with good daily cleaning and that's why dentists, dental hygienists and dental therapists recommend TANDEX.

TANDEX is the premium brand that produces brushes for all ages, including interdental brushes, plus adjuncts.

A simple yet effective daily routine can be taught to your patients; they can be shown how to manipulate the brush, also the correct size to use for each space, with the help of the Patient Educator Tool.

Gentle cleaning is where prevention starts – visit the new-look website to find out more about TANDEX, and its range.

For more information on Tandex's range of products, visit <https://tandex.dk/>.

Tandex products are also available from CTS Dental Supplies <https://www.cts-dental.com/> and DHB Oral Healthcare <https://dhb.co.uk/>.

GOLD STANDARD TRAINING IN NON-INVASIVE INJECTABLE COSMETIC PROCEDURES

Derma Medical, a multinational training provider at the forefront of non-surgical aesthetic treatments, equips medical professionals with recognised qualifications in non-invasive injectable cosmetic procedures such as Botox and dermal fillers.

Derma Medical has UK-wide training covering London, Birmingham, Manchester, and Edinburgh, as well as international training academies in Sydney, Brisbane, Melbourne, Perth, Stockholm and Dubai, which attract delegates from around the world.

With courses to suit all levels, from foundation to the most experienced practitioners, the company has always been committed to the gold standard of training in-line with the latest guidelines for delivering non-surgical cosmetic interventions. This approach has seen its courses endorsed and regulated by leading organisations such as the British College of Aesthetic Medicine (BCAM) and The Office of Qualifications and Examinations Regulation (Ofqual).

The Company's mission is to raise the standards of the aesthetic industry by improving patient safety and the lives of hardworking medical professionals by providing a development pathway to grow their careers and improve their livelihoods. In addition, the work of Derma Medical and its delegates positively affects people's confidence, helping them feel better about themselves.

Derma Medical was founded by Dr Zack Ally and Dr Sanah Qasem in 2015 and has taught thousands of delegates on aesthetic medicine – an industry where science meets art. They were one of the first training providers in the UK to offer the accredited level 7 qualification in cosmetic injectables, which Ofqual regulates.
