

BDCDS moved to 2022

CloserStill Media, organisers of the British Dental Conference and Dentistry Show, have made the carefully considered decision to postpone the British Dental Conference and Dentistry Show (BDCDS) to May 2022.

The event will now take place on Friday 13 and Saturday 14 May 2022 at the Birmingham NEC, hall 5.

In the meantime, CloserStill Media will be focusing on how they can support the profession as they continue to work through this very challenging time for dentistry.

The BDCDS is the UK's leading two-day exhibition and conference for dental professionals, providing clinical, leadership and practical training via an extensive educational programme and hands-on workshops. It is the UK's largest event of its kind, attracting over 9000 unique delegates and over 400 exhibitors.

CloserStill Media specialises in global professional events, within the healthcare and technology markets. The healthcare portfolio includes some of the UK's fastest-growing and award-winning events, such as the Clinical Pharmacy Congress, The Dentistry Show, The Pharmacy Show and Acute & General Medicine.

CloserStill delivers unparalleled quality and relevant audiences for all its exhibitions, delivering NHS and private sector healthcare professionals from across occupational therapy, pharmacy, dentistry, primary and secondary care with more than £16 million worth of free training.

Financial advice and accounting services

The Ross Brooke Dental website goes live this month. With a new name but a long-established history in the dental world, Ross Brooke Dental comprises specialist dental accountants Linda Giles and Nathan Poole and their administrative team, all of them 100% dedicated to the dental profession.

Together they provide financial advice and accounting services to scores of successful dentists and orthodontists. Case studies and testimonials from a sample of clients are woven into the website to showcase the in-depth and highly supportive service they provide.

The qualities which differentiate the specialist team include:

- A client commitment which explicitly sets out what clients can expect
- The annual review, at which the team works with clients to reflect on their business in the past year but most importantly, plan for the future

- Support with personal financial issues – because it can be hard to separate your dental business from the rest of your life
- An annual fee which covers the services you want; the Ross Brooke Dental team never undertakes a role or takes a fee for a role that someone else is better equipped to deliver, such as a practice sale, pension advice, marketing or recruitment
- Being the dental specialist arm of Abingdon-based Ross Brooke accountants who provide an additional layer of expert advice on non-dental but essential issues.
