Optimising implant outcomes

To optimise your implant treatment outcomes, it's crucial to use the right systems, technologies and biomaterials for each case. That's why the Straumann Group offers an array of clinically-proven solutions to support high-quality and predictable results.

Within the comprehensive biomaterial portfolio is a product to suit every indication, including xenograft, allograft and synthetic graft materials, as well as resorbable and non-resorbable barrier membranes. This consists of:

- Straumann Emdogain
- maxgraft
- mucoderm
- Jason membrane

- collacone
- permamem
- collprotect membrane
- Straumann XenoGraft
- Straumann XenoFlex
- cerabone.

And so many more. Together, these make clinicians the master of any challenge. They are powerful solutions that accelerate healing, enhance bone and help to achieve the aesthetic results that patients crave. Optimise your implant outcomes with Straumann biomaterials.

A unique, aesthetic option

So often temporary crowns are not aesthetic, offer poor fracture resistance and aren't built to last. But even temporisation materials can be exceptional, especially if you choose Protemp 4 Temporisation Material from 3M Oral Care.

Designed specifically to offer patients better aesthetics, Protemp 4 Temporisation Material also features record-breaking fracture resistance due to its nano filler technology, meaning that should a patient need a temporary solution for a longer period than expected, it won't be a problem.
