

LOW SHRINKAGE COMPOSITE

N'Durance is a Nano-Dimer low shrinkage composite which can be used for direct aesthetic restoration of both anterior and posterior teeth.

N'Durance places less stress on the tooth restoration interface and has improved durability. It has the highest intra-oral monomer conversion available (75%), optimising physical and mechanical properties and reducing elution of residual monomer.

N'Durance is compatible with all bonding agents, is non-sticky and easy to handle and is extremely hydrophobic.

The product is available in kits of single dose capsules or syringes and comes in 16 Vita shades, plus Universal Opaque, Translucent and Bleach White.

Reader response number 58

DESIGN PEACE OF MIND

Clark Dental's practice design services provide essential assistance and support to dentists considering an equipment refit or refurbishment.

Using the latest in computer-aided design (CAD), Clark Dental enables practitioners to get the clearest vision possible of any proposed design changes before work even begins, when adjustments can easily be made to ensure that the final product meets requirements.

Clark Dental guarantees a complete package and total peace of mind. They will assist you in every aspect of the work, including compliance with the latest regulations, and installation and training for any new equipment.

Clark Dental works with the leading suppliers of dental equipment, cabinetry and units and can provide a tailored solution to suit your requirements.

Reader response number 61

STREAMLINE YOUR PRACTICE

Admor's range of wall-mounted racks, portable trays, dental filing cabinets, storage boxes and cupboards are ideal for smart index card filing.

You can save on floor space by choosing from Admor's collection of Flexiform modular storage units. Created with the dental professional in mind, the range includes a series of interchangeable drawers, shelving units and worktops that come in a variety of dimensions and formats, and can be installed to suit any practice.

Dental practices can also benefit from Admor's free on-site survey service, providing bespoke advice on the most cost effective, space saving solutions for you.

Admor also offers pre-prepared dental admin forms, including prescription pads, lab chits, treatment consent forms, intra-oral examination checklists and pre-printed NHS letters.

Reader response number 59

OUTSTANDING DESIGN FLEXIBILITY

Genus Dental Interiors Ltd turns a dental practice principal's vision into a reality by transforming a simple space into a stylish and functional environment with their Design and Build programme.

Genus works hard to ensure as many project savings are made as possible to alleviate budgetary concerns. They encourage a partnership-driven approach throughout, starting with the design process, encouraging better communication to help problem solving and identifying risk factors early so that they can implement improvements from the start.

Genus prides itself on providing outstanding flexibility to customers and is not bound to any particular manufacturer. Principals therefore have free rein to select their ideal furniture, fittings and fixtures. Genus uses the latest in computer-aided design and 3D software and provides customers with accurate previews of the completed project.

Reader response number 62

CONVEY A SECURE, MODERN IMAGE

Railex Projects Limited replace the wooden open-fronted shelving used for patient records with the latest DesignLine drawer cabinet system.

The DesignLine system creates a restful and elegant environment for maximum efficiency and positive patient impact and is also appropriate to secure storage compliance with the Care Quality Commission (CQC).

Patient records are located at the back of the reception area which is convenient for administrative staff and conveys an aura of security and a modern image to visiting patients.

Thousands of sets of notes can be accommodated within just three lockable Railex DesignLine cabinets which are specially configured to bear the weight due to double runners and steel internal dividers.

The cabinets also have extra general storage space at the top of each unit with double doors which keeps stationery and office products tidily tucked away.

A choice of sizes and colours is available.

Reader response number 60

