

RANKING AMONG THE BEST IN ITS CATEGORY

Just in time for the company's 50th anniversary, a new version of DMG's LuxaPost composite root-post is now available which will make it even easier to work with confidence. The most important innovation is its significantly enhanced radiopacity; with a value of 375% aluminium equivalent, LuxaPost ranks among the very best in its category.

Better visibility on X-rays gives the clinician additional confidence while working. Accuracy of fit can be better controlled and a more precisely fitted post reduces stress and potential fractures.

The glass-fibre reinforced LuxaPost is a tried and tested partner for LuxaCore Z-Dual, DMG's premium composite for core build-ups and root-post cementation. LuxaPost can be adhesively cemented with LuxaCore Z, which is then used for the following core build-up, creating a stable system. Thanks to LuxaPost's optimised radiopacity, it is now even easier to be certain.

For comprehensive, coordinated post-endodontic treatment, DMG now offer a complete system. In addition to LuxaPost and LuxaCore Z-Dual, this includes LuxaBond-Total Etch, a dual curing adhesive system specially designed for use in the root canal.
