MINIMALLY INVASIVE

When compared to similar procedures such as the lateral window or osteotomes technique, the Osstem CAS Kit is proven to be the least invasive method of performing sinus lift surgery. The kit includes components that have been specially designed to minimise risk by providing the tools for a non-traumatic crestal approach to sinus elevation for patients, even if the sinus floor is flat, inclined or has a septum.

The atraumatic design of the drill head contains four blades that reduce deflecting off the bone, and straight sides that dampen vibrations. This design also encourages bone particles to discharge upwards, producing a 'membrane auto-lift function' that prevents membrane perforation. A customised stopper system allows the user to easily perform a procedure without the fear of over-drilling, and the unique hydraulic lifter promotes the ability to easily and safely lift the membrane.

KEEP YOUR PRACTICE SAFE

Disinfection expert CleanCert can provide you with the products needed to keep your dental practice safe.

Biofilms can represent a real hazard if left to breed in your dental unit water system but CleanCert Biofilm Disinfectant has been proven to result in zero colony forming units just five minutes after contact time. This results in clean, safe water lines every time, so it's no surprise that this product has been used by over 35 PCTs in the NHS for over a decade.

To keep you, your dental team and each one of your patients safe – and to ensure your practice remains HTM 01-05 compliant – consider CleanCert for all your biofilm disinfectant needs.
