Accurate scanning on the go

While the True Definition scanner from 3M Oral Care has exhibited a 99.7% fit rate since launch – making it one of the profession’s most accurate intraoral scanners – the expert team at 3M Oral Care is not one for resting on its laurels.

That’s why it has developed the Mobile True Definition scanner.

Maintaining the same benefits of the True Definition Scanner, the new system operates solely on a tablet, making it easy to move from one surgery to another – and providing you with excellent flexibility.

For more information about how you could enjoy its truly mobile benefits, contact the 3M Oral Care team today.

It’s all change in periodontal and implant therapy

Gengigel is a patented formulation containing high molecular weight hyaluronan (hyaluronic acid), a natural physiological constituent produced in the body to heal and repair itself.

Hyaluronic acid initiates the healing and repair processes by modulating the inflammatory response promoting cell proliferation and re-epithelisation, tissue regeneration, and haemostasis. It plays a crucial part in maintaining tissue integrity even in areas which demonstrate poor healing providing an anti-inflammatory response even after oral trauma resistant to resolution.

Gengigel’s professional range has been specifically designed to promote and accelerate healing and repair of open wounds during the post-operative and traumatic phase. Reducing pain and discomfort especially after the surgical traumas, periodontal work, implants, tooth extractions and subgingival root planning and scaling.

It’s tax year planning time

Now that the 2017/18 tax year is in full swing, it’s time to turn your attention to your finances and begin to think about your intentions for the year ahead.

To achieve optimal results and make your tax bill as efficient as possible you’ll need to cover all aspects of your finances, including your investment portfolio, tax bill, any potential tax relief that you may be eligible for and tax returns.

An Independent Financial Adviser (IFA) can help evaluate your position and assess the best way to approach the tax year, ensuring that you start as you mean to go on. Together, you then have time to watch your strategy unfold, as well as the space to make any necessary adjustments along the way.

The seasoned IFAs at money4dentists offer a full service in which they look at avenues such as pension allowances, ISA limits as well as a range of other tax-efficient investment opportunities to get a balanced portfolio that suits both your circumstances and long-term goals.

Whether you’re a returning client or new to tax year planning there’s no better time than now to get started, so call money4dentists today – the team’s expert advice is only a phone call away.
