Saving you time and hassle

Improving upon its previously popular Multi-unit abutment, Nobel Biocare now offers the Multi-unit Abutment Plus.

Significantly reducing the chair time required to perform a denture conversion – often used for the All-on-4 treatment concept – the innovative solution streamlines the professional workflow while enhancing patient experience.

Featuring a snap-fit function between the temporary cylinders and the abutment, it eliminates the need for screws during the try-in process. This means the temporary cylinders and denture can be removed as many times as necessary during the conversion process without any of the time or hassle previously required to tighten and loosen screws every time.

One of the latest solutions in Nobel Biocare's extensive portfolio of leading implant products, the Multi-unit Abutment is a must-have for every implant dentist. It is available as part of a comprehensive system of solutions clinically proven to deliver effective and long-lasting results.
